ATTENTION VISITORS
YOU ARE A POTENTIAL BIOSECURITY RISK TO OUR ANIMALS

Prior to farm visit, review biosecurity protocols with farm personnel. Below are general guidelines for farm biosecurity.

Prior to arrival, obtain permission to enter the site. Follow any farm downtime requirements.

Inform farm personnel when you were last in contact with pigs or locations with pigs.

Do not enter the site if you are sick.

Arrive with a clean vehicle and park in the designated area or away from animal barns.

Do not bring personal items into the farm without approval.

Follow biosecurity measures for supply entry which may include cleaning and disinfecting.

Sign the visitor log before entering.

Wash hands before and after entry or during shower-in/shower-out. Follow all farm entry policies and respect the line of separation.

Wear site-specific clean coveralls or clothing and footwear to limit the spread of disease between sites.

Do not eat or drink in animal areas. Keep food in a breakroom or office.

Always follow the farm's biosecurity protocols including cleaning and disinfecting equipment prior to leaving the farm.

Follow the farm downtime policy after international travel. A period of downtime or extra biosecurity measures may be needed.
